Color of Flower _____

The handcrafted nature of this product will produce minor differences in design and sizing. Beads tend to have a "speckled" effect due to the different color variations in each individual flower petal. Subtle variations will occur from piece to piece, adding to its unique quality. Measurements may vary slightly. There is no guarantee on what color your beads will turn out. Each flower is as unique as a fingerprint. Most beads seem to be a darker color than the color of the original flower.
